

External Service Provider and Geolocation Policy

Onepath does not transfer data provided by Customers to external parties (contractors, vendors or service providers) unless those external parties provide the data the equivalent level of protection that Onepath provides. To ensure the external parties provide the appropriate level of protection, Onepath conducts regular due diligence in accordance with internal policies and procedures.

As a company operating primarily within North America, Onepath will only store Client data in Delivery Centers located inside the North America and Europe.